Results of National Tests and Teacher Assessments for the School Year Ending July 2023

When reading results, it is important to remember that in small schools, one child can represent a large percentage of the group. We value all children's contributions to our school and welcome children with special educational or complex needs. All children are included in the data, regardless of their needs, in KS1 this applies even where they are dis-applied from the national curriculum.

We are delighted to share with you, the results of national tests and assessments for our previous academic year. We are very proud of all of our children, no matter how highly they score in tests. As long as they are doing the best that they can at all times, that is all we will ever ask. Whilst our results are important to us, development of children in all aspects of their lives is our fundamental aim. Well done to all.

In the tables below, information is contained about the attainment of children at key points during their education. As always, when viewing data shown in percentages, it is important to recognise that in small year groups, one child can represent a very significant percentage. It is also important to recognise that all children, including those with special educational needs or disabilities sit the same tests and that their results are shown within the data. We always strive for children to achieve their potential and be well prepared for high school at the end of Year Six. However, as children progress at different rates, some children may not achieve the national expectation, but it is still important that we recognise and celebrate their efforts and progress and ensure that the appropriate levels of support are in place for them to continue their progress in Year Seven. We work very closely with their individual high schools to give the best possible support at all times.

We have tried to give as much explanation of the data as possible, but should you require any additional information or wish to discuss it further, please do not hesitate to contact us.

Foundation Stage

The national measure for attainment at this stage is known as "Good Level of Development" (GLD). This is the combined Foundation Stage Profile scores for the core areas of learning relating to communication and language; physical development; personal, social and emotional development; literacy; and mathematics.

We are delighted with our KS2 results, and we know that they show excellent progress for all of our children. Our results from our younger children demonstrate that our children on the whole are not yet back to where we would have expected them to be academically, judged by pre-covid expectations. Staff and governors are aware of this and have put in place measures to support our youngest children who are in need of it.

We know our children really well and some of our greatest success stories are often of children who may not reach the expected standard at the end of a key stage, but who have worked incredibly hard to overcome specific difficulties to achieve the best results that they can. A huge well done to all.
